

OPERATION DISGUISE TURKEY FAMILY PROJECT

SPECIAL OPERATION TURKEY FAMILY PROJECT

Directions (for the teacher)

This is a great family project! First read the book in class, Turkey Trouble, by Wendi Silvano and illustrated by Lee Harper. You can find it on YouTube or buy it at Amazon. Read the Family Letter to the students to ENGAGE your students. Send the project home the first week of November. Give students (with a weekend) to complete the project. Send the letter explaining the project (fill in the blank) and one of the turkey printables and one of the writing prompts. Students orally share their projects and write a text to project connection by asking "How does this story we read in class?" and prompt their response. Use them to make a cute display.

Dear Families,

WE NEED YOUR HELP! We want to help save some turkeys on Thanksgiving Day. We need to act fast! You have been selected to participate in OPERATION TURKEY! We read about a turkey who tried many disguises to hide from the farmer who wanted to eat him for dinner. His disguises were not very good. We need you to create a turkey disguise for our classroom display.

Attached is a paper turkey. Help your child cut the turkey out, make a costume or disguise for the turkey. Use any materials you choose to disguise your turkey. Some samples of turkeys made in the past can be found online. (Examples: football players, lampshades, cartoon characters, animals, people, pumpkins, objects) Use the attached writing paper to have your child write about how their turkey is not a "real" turkey by describing their disguise.
