WRITING PROMPTS

OCTOBER (31 Prompts)

Monthly Journal

PRINT AND GO

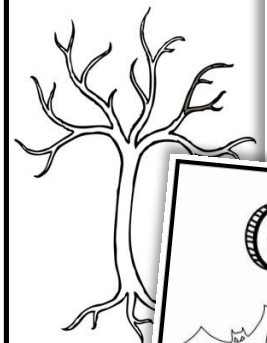

Staple to create a journal.

Word Bank Included

Dear Teachers,

These writing prompts were made to encourage your students to write daily. You can use them as quick writes or add a second page of extra lines (Pg. 37) in between each prompt to encourage more writing. One of the student's favorite activities with these writing prompts was when I asked for volunteers to read their writing to the whole class. I only picked a couple a day because of time, but it is what motivated them to become better writers. They knew someone might hear their words. It gave their writing meaning.

There is a themed word bank in front of the journal with room for students to add their own words. This allows them to feel ownership when they get to add words they want to add to the list. I also would have students use the Self Check off at the bottom of each page to remind them of their writing e… take a green crayon to highlight… highlight their punctuation. Ha…

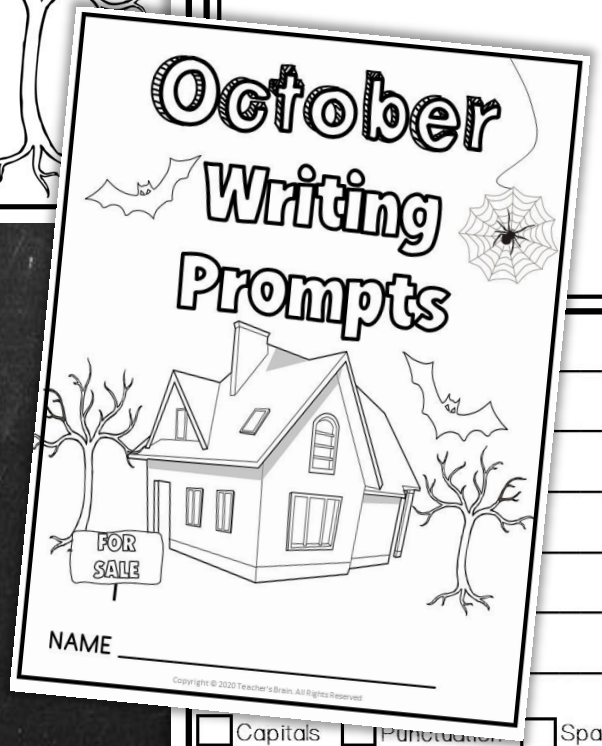

NAME _____ October

Are you afraid of the dark?

Explain what you can do to help yourself or others feel safe when it is dark.

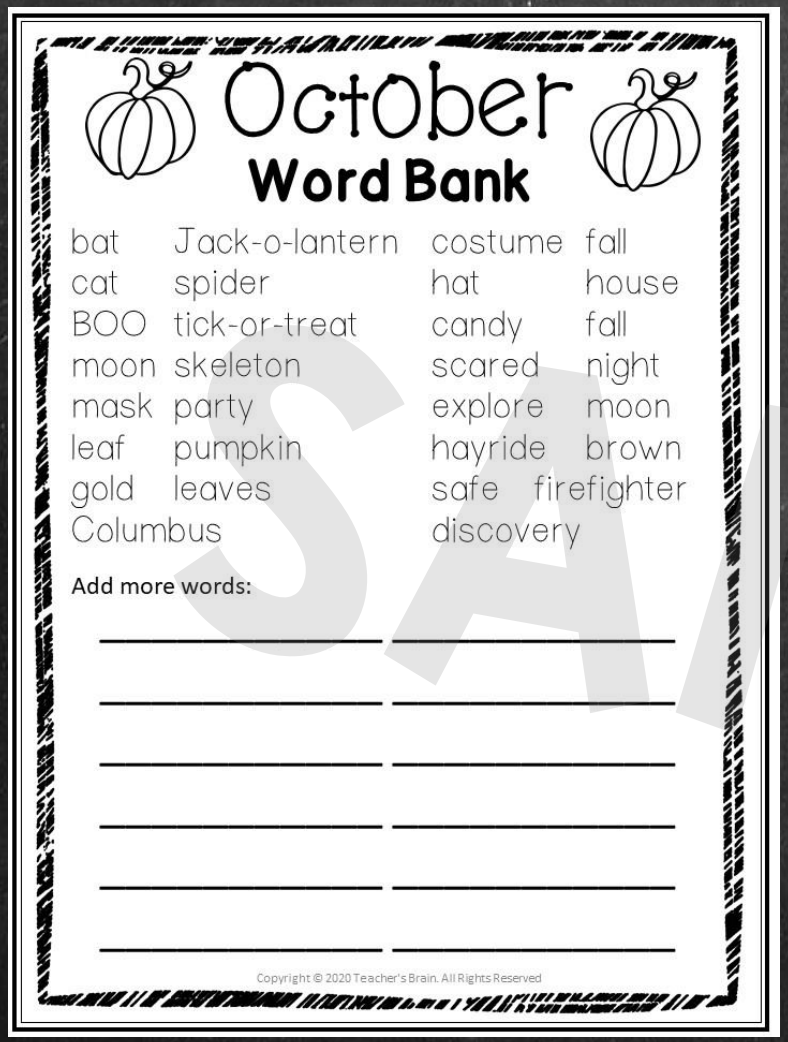

Capitals Punctuation Space Neat On Topic

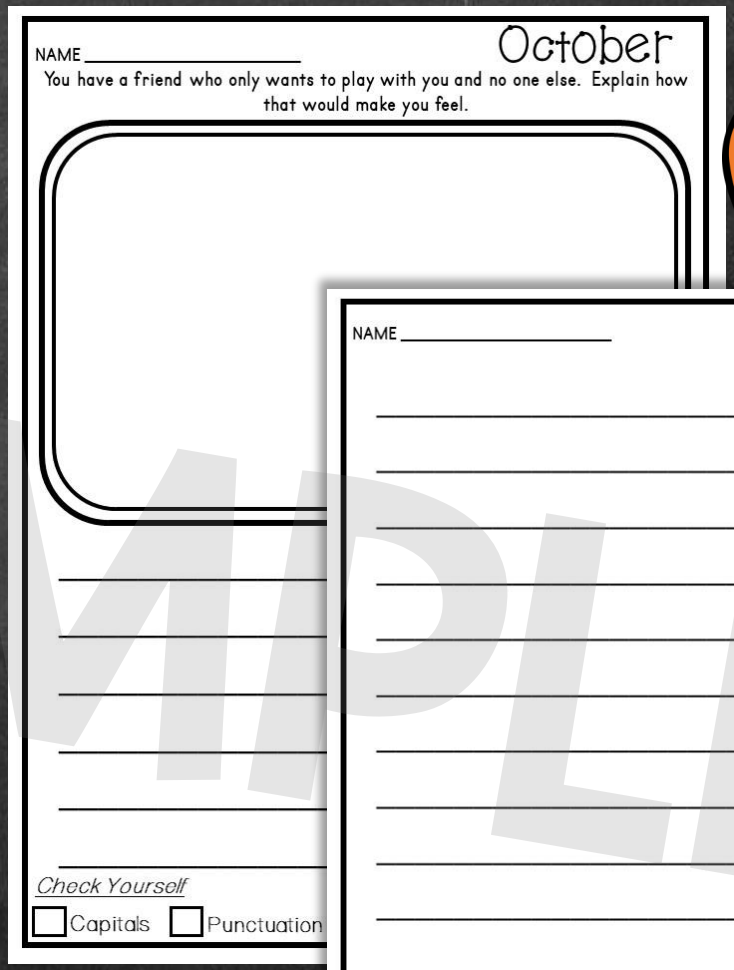

Copyright © 2020 Teacher's Brain. All Rights Reserved

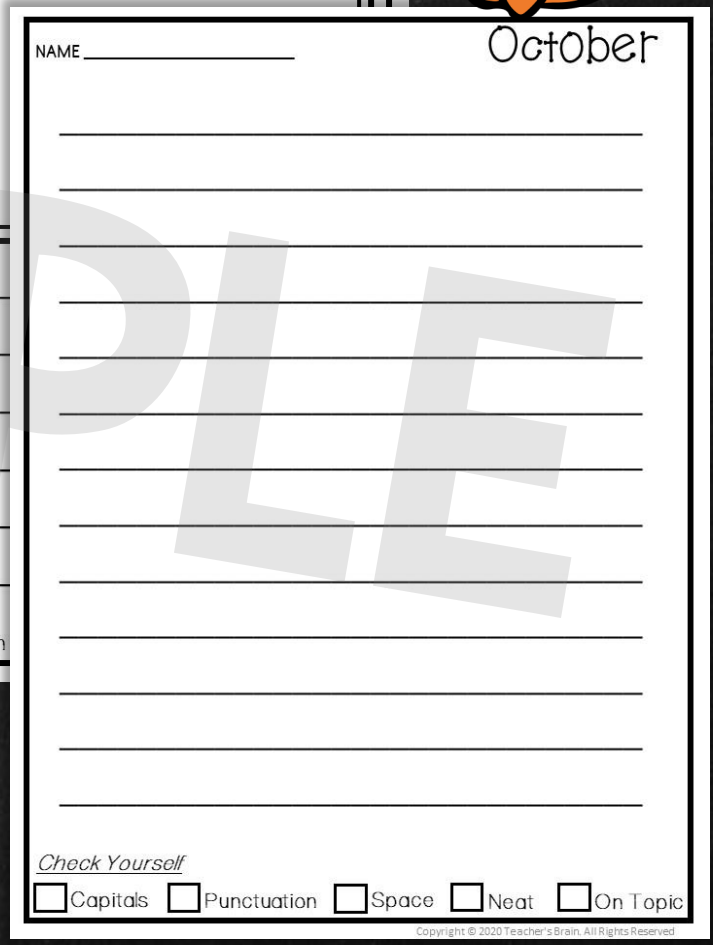

34 Pages
Cover Page
Included

Print and staple! 30 prompts and an extra writing sheet to encourage more writing if needed.

SAMPLE

Rubric Included

