WRITING PROMPTS

MAY (31 Prompts)

Monthly Journal

Dear Teachers,

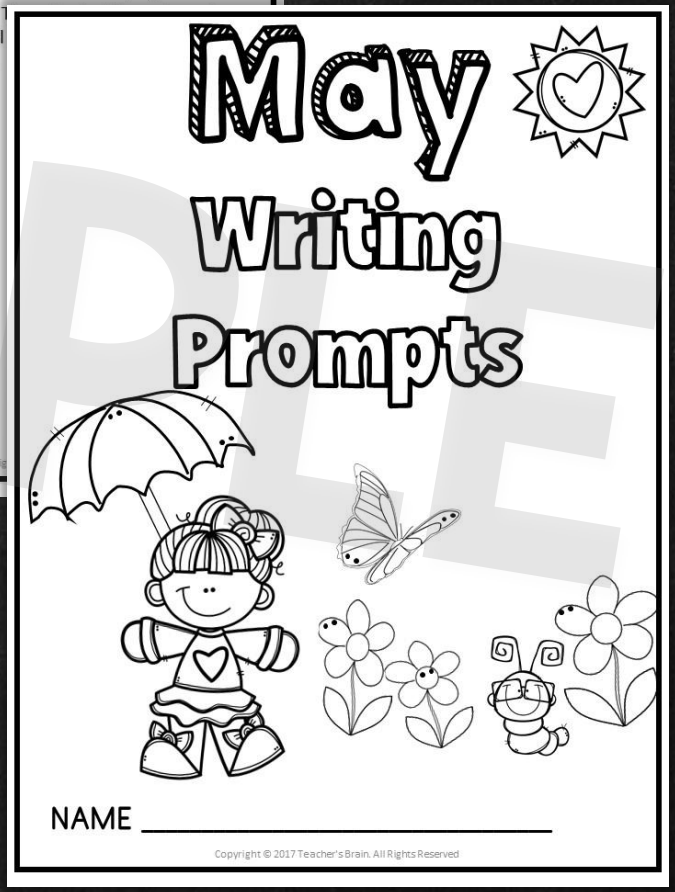

These writing prompts were made to encourage your students to write daily. You can use them as quick writes or add a second page of extra lines (Pg. 37) in between each prompt to encourage more writing. One of the student's favorite activities with these writing prompts was when I asked for volunteers to read their writing to the whole class. I only picked a couple a day because of time, but it is what motivated them to become better writers. They knew someone might hear their words. It gave their writing meaning.

There is a themed word bank in front of the journal with room for students to add their own words. This allows them to feel ownership when they get to add words they want to add to the list. I also would have students use the Self Check off at the bottom of each page to remind them of their writing expectations. T take a green crayon to highlight their capital highlight their punctuation. Happy Writing!

Copyright © 2017 Teacher's Brain. All Rig

32 Pages
Cover Page Included

PRINT AND GO

Staple to create a journal.

Word Bank Included

Print and staple! 31 prompts and an extra writing sheet to encourage more writing if needed.

Rubric Included

NAME _____ May

Lily of the Valley is the May Birth Flower. The flowers are normally white, smell great, and are poisonous. If you could choose any flower to be your birth month flower, what would it be? Why?

Check Yourself

Capitals

NAME _____ May

May 5th is Cinco de Mayo. It is traditional for people to eat Mexican food on this

Check Yourself

Capitals

NAME _____ May

What type of weather is your favorite type of weather? Give reasons why it is your favorite.

Check Yourself

Capitals Punctuation Space

NAME _____ May

Write a letter to the President asking to change something. Think about what you would like to change in the world to improve it.

Dear, _____

Sincerely,

Check Yourself

Capitals Punctuation Space Neat On Topic

Copyright © 2017 Teacher's Brain. All Rights Reserved

Writing Rubric

	3	2	1
Punctuation	Shows they understand when and how to use punctuation	Shows they have some understanding of punctuation	Shows LITTLE understanding of punctuation
Capitalization	Student ALWAYS uses capitalization properly.	SOMETIMES uses capitalization correctly	DID NOT use any capitalization correctly
Spelling	Spelling is sometimes correct, and most sentences are on topic	Most of the words are spelled incorrectly and the sentences are off topic
Handwriting	Handwriting SOMETIMES shows their personal best and is neat	Handwriting is messy and NOT their personal best

Total POINTS _____

Brain. All Rights Reserved

SAMPLE