BLURT BEAN JAR
A CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

Need a classroom management system that works? Try a Blurt Bean Jar!

CHECK IT OUT!

DIRECTIONS

This is an editable PowerPoint. The background can NOT be edited to protect clipart copyrights. There are text boxes ready for you to personalize your own slides to allow you to be creative or use the premade slides. Some slides are in cursive AND some are just print to accommodate primary or intermediate students. The last pages are blank for you to add your own images and text, if needed.

The fonts used to create this resource are:

KA NIGHT OWL
KA Guilty (cursive)
KG Miss Kindergarten

You will need to purchase beans (dried, jelly, or coffee). I like dried or coffee so the kids don't eat them, but you do whatever works for the "case of the blurts". Use the short story and definition poster to explain what BLURT means to students. Read the short story and have kids snap or hold a finger up when they hear someone blurt out in the story.

1. Put the beans in a clear jar (plastic preferably) labeled Blurt Beans.
2. Have another clear jar with two or three activities written at the bottom, middle and/or top for students see what they will earn at the "earn" line. You can pick their earnings, but it's better if they do. (see sample at end)
3. There are two options to use them. The First is to put 5 blurt beans on each student's desk. Tell them to keep them on their name tag. They are responsible for their beans. Beans found on the floor get added to the Blurt to keep them on students blurt out you, another student or the student must put a bean to keep it more sanitary. You control the beans you or one student who
4. When t

Have a g

Cindy

NEED TO GO VIRTUAL?

You can use Blurt Beans with Google Slides with this resource also! Students can ea a virtual beans (digital images), write in text boxes, and you can assign beans to students online.

CLICK THE LINK BELOW FOR THE GOOGLE SLIDE VERSION

CLICK HERE

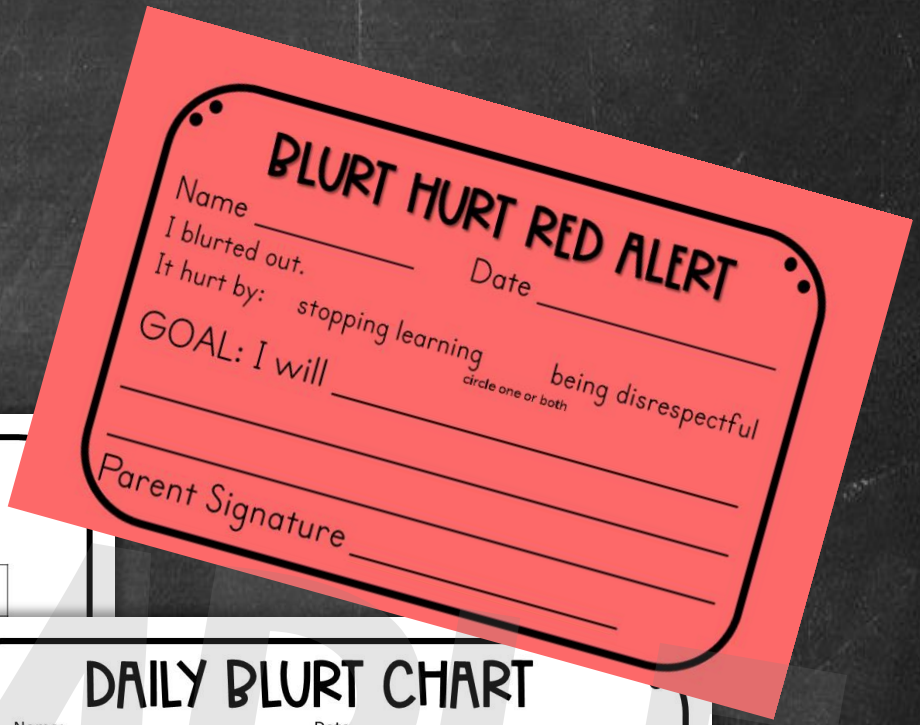

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

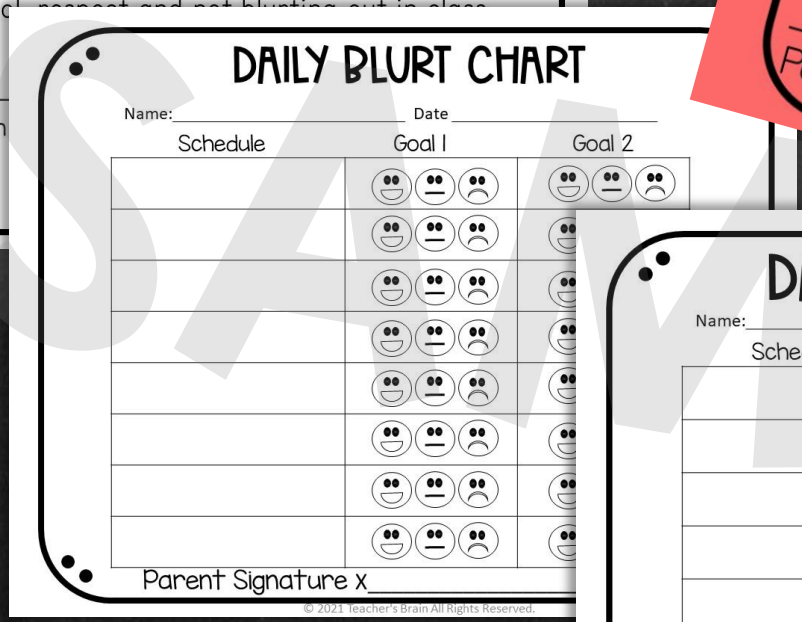

INCLUDED:

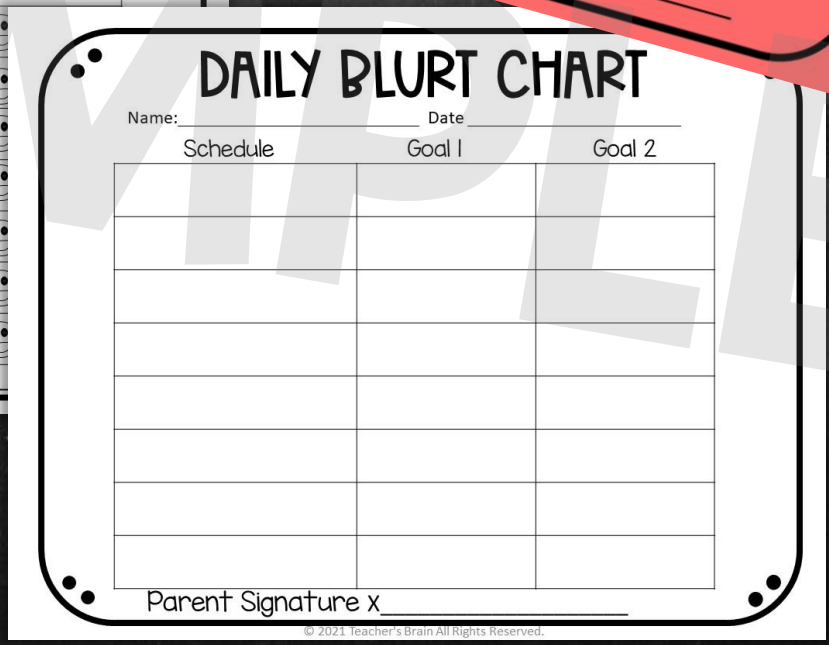

- 50 Editable PowerPoint Slides
- 50 Editable Google Slides (Virtual Beans included in Google)
- Labels, Writing Prompts, Blurt Journal, Data Collecting Sheets, Lesson Plans and MORE

CLASSROOM MANAGEMENT

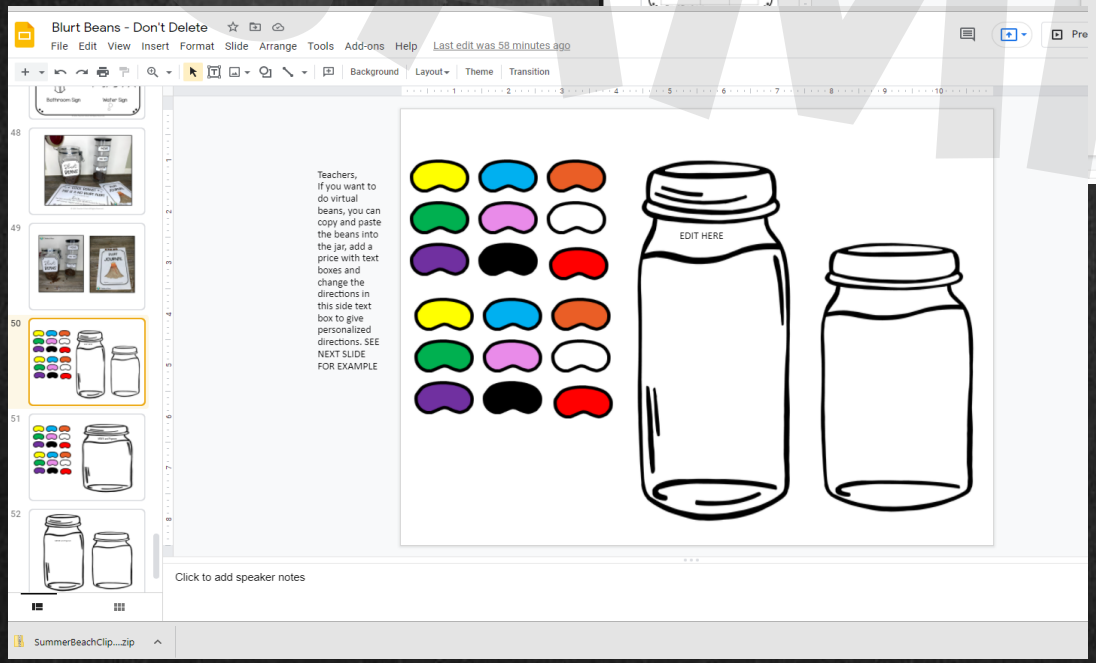

SAMPLE

CERTIFICATES, DATA COLLECTION AND WARNINGS

A GOOGLE SLIDE LINK IS PROVIDED IN THE POWERPOINT FOR A VIRTUAL BEANS OPTION

SAMPLE

Writing Prompts (Digital, Print Primary and Intermediate Lines)

Name _____ EXPOSITORY

COOL BEANS

People say, "Cool Beans" to express approval or delight. Explain how to fill the jar up with beans in your class to get your teacher to yell, "Cool Beans!" What happens each time the jar gets to a line?

Text Boxes

Name _____ EXPOSITORY

COOL BEANS

People say, "Cool Beans" to express approval or delight. Explain how to fill the jar up with beans in your class to get your teacher to yell, "Cool Beans!" What happens each time the jar gets to a line?

Name _____ EXPOSITORY

COOL BEANS

People say, "Cool Beans" to express approval or delight. Explain how to fill the jar up with beans in your class to get your teacher to yell, "Cool Beans!" What happens each time the jar gets to a line?

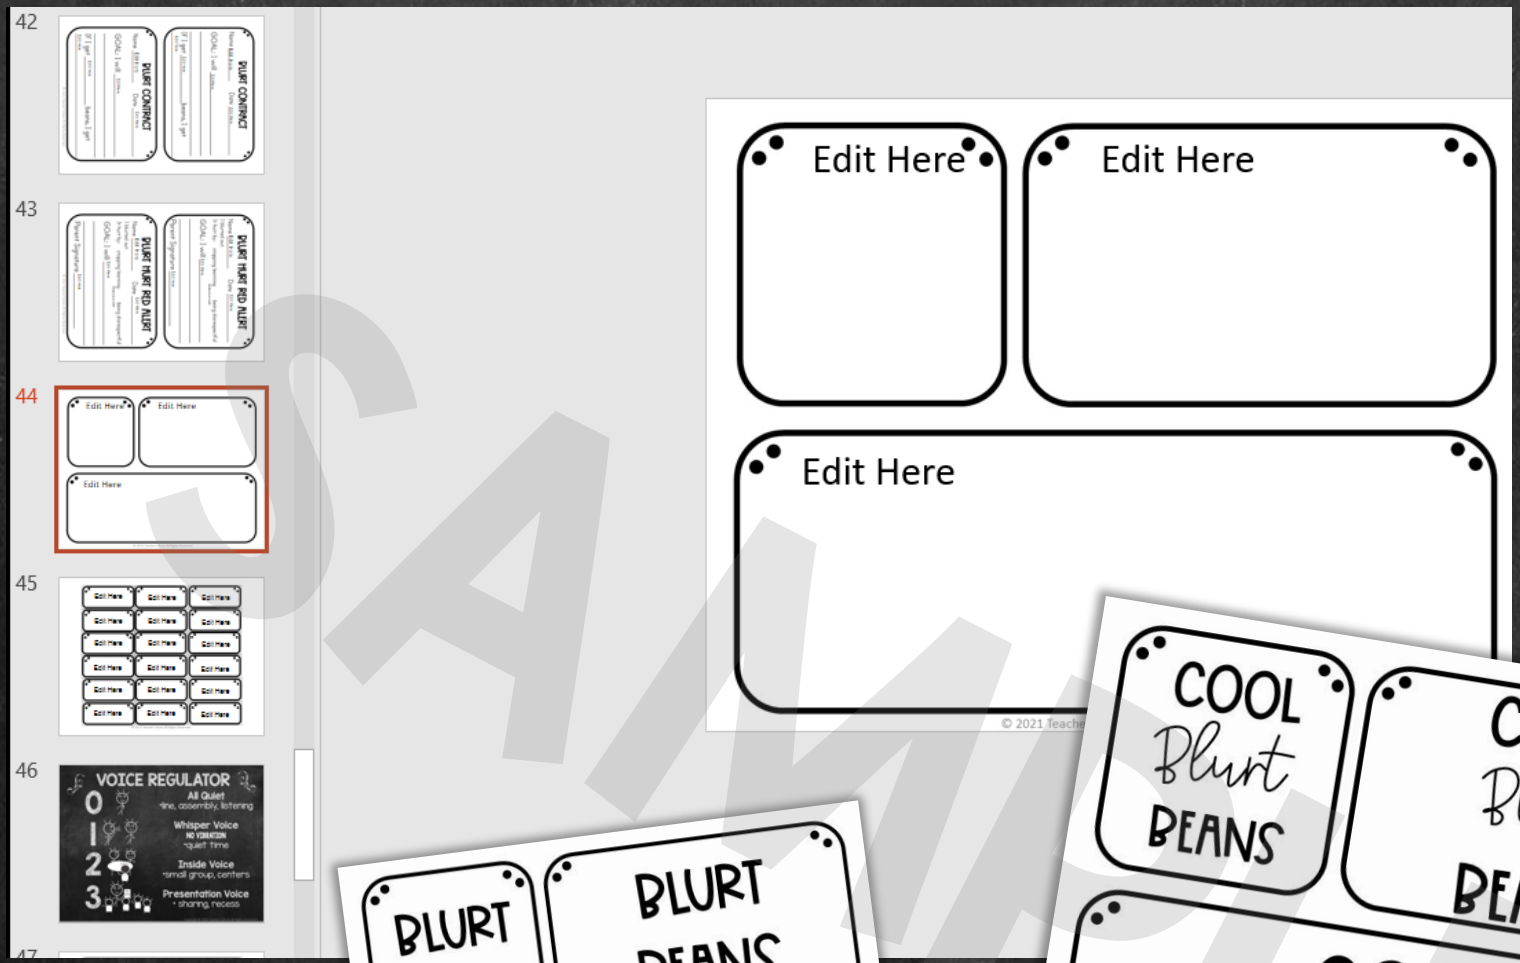

Name _____ PERSUASIVE

WE "BEAN" GOOD!

Think about the BIGGEST and BEST reward your teacher could give you for "beaning" good! Persuade or convince the teacher to let that be your reward you earn. Include a reason and a fact.

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

Premade or Create Your Own Labels

Journal Options
Rules
Blurting Strategies

BLURTBUSTER STRATEGIES

1. Raise my hand.
2. Stop and Think before I speak.
3. Write thoughts in my journal.
4. Be an active listener
5. Wait until I
   time to talk

BLURT
JOURNAL

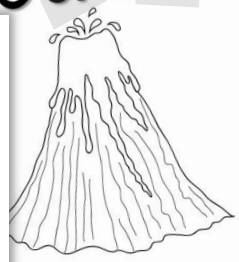

Name_____

Date_____
TODAY I WANTED TO BLURT...

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

BLURT
JOURNAL

Name_____

Date_____
TODAY I WANTED TO BLURT...

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

BLURT
JOURNAL

Name_____

Date_____
TODAY I WANTED TO BLURT...

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

Name_____

PROBLEM: Students are blurting out too much.

Write about why this is a problem.	Write about strategies we can use to avoid blurting out.

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

SAMPLE

Stories and Silent Signals Students create their own rules and goals or use the premade option.

Billy the Blurter!

One day we were sitting in our class listening to the best story when we hear, "I have to go to the bathroom!" It was Billy. Billy blurts out all the time. We all like Billy, but when Billy blurts, it hurts! We could not hear the story we wanted to hear. The teacher reminded Billy to raise his hand next time.

The next day we were learning all about fire safety when we hear, "My grandpa had a fire once!" Guess who? Silly Billy strikes again! It was rude to the guest speaker. The guest speaker told Billy how sorry he was about the fire and continued with the important lesson.

"I WANT A DRINK!", Billy shouted. Our teacher told him to stop blurting out every thought that comes to mind. Billy would have to wait. It made it hard for us to listen.

On Friday, it was my turn to share my favorite food with the class. I was nervous. I showed everyone cookies my mom made for them using chocolate chips, but before I could tell them why they were my favorite, Billy blurted out, "I'm lactose intolerant [illegible]cookies!" It hurt my feelings. The next time you want [illegible] before you speak, raise your hand.

SILENT HAND SIGNALS

Bathroom Sign

Water Sign

SAMPLE

© 2021 Teacher's Brain All Rights Reserved.

